MARCH 10th, 1757. [Numb. 1185.]

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

WHOEVER conſiders that this Province is only 32 Degrees from the Equator, will readily infer, without experiencing it to be ſo, that the Climate muſt be very warm; and the Air in the maritime Parts is perhaps more particularly ſultry than it is in any other Country under the ſame Parallel. This is probably owing to the Want of Hills or Mountains, to collect the Currents of Air, and conduct them from one Place to another, wherefore we very ſeldom have ſuch high Winds or Storms as are common in other Countries, and by which our Atmoſphere might be renewed from Time to Time. In this Reſpect we labour under another very great Inconveniency, from the great and continued Foreſts with which our land is almoſt where covered, thro' which the Wind cannot penetrate ſo freely that our Air may receive a thorough Ventilation; the Force even of the violent Hurricane in 1752, being little felt 100 miles back, altho' the Storm continued more than 12 Hours, but not with equal Fury.

A warm Climate muſt almoſt neceſſarily be a moiſt one, becauſe of the copious Exhalations which are raiſed by Heat; abundant Matter for a great Supply of which is found every where here, for the Ocean extends along our Coaſt, and the Country at every little Diſtance is interſected by Rivers, Creeks, and marſhy or ſwampy Land; Inundations are likeways made in every Settlement for Rice and Indico, and the Soil in general is ſo light that Vapours tranſpire freely; to all which, when the incredible Perſpiration from the prodigious Foreſts and a profuſe Variety of inferior Vegetables is added, how great is the Fund for ſupplying the Atmoſphere with Moiſture? It is plain then, that our Air is both warm and moiſt, and Phyſicians (I am told) are of Opinion, that theſe two Qualities of it, are productive of the moſt dangerous Diſeaſes. But theſe Vapours are far from being only ſimple aqueous Particles, for they are blended with the putrid Effluvia of every Body which is corruptible, ſo that the pernicious Effects of Heat and Moiſture, muſt be greatly promoted by this infectious Addition. And worſe ſtill muſt their Conſequences be, when the Air acquires ſome Degree of Putreſcence for want of a free Circulation, for it is as ſubject to Putrefaction from Stagnation, as Water is or any other heterogeneous Fluid, and it is probably leſs or more tainted with ſuch a Diſpoſition, every Summer, or at other Seaſons, when the Weather has been long cloſe and ſultry.

Since therefore, we muſt unavoidably be expoſed to the Influence of ſo many inſalutary Cauſes, does it not become us to endeavour to prevent any Aggravation of them, as far as it may be in our Power to do ſo? In Town, where many Houſes are crouded together, and great Numbers of People confined to a narrow Compaſs, unleſs Care is taken, the miſchievous Conſequences of theſe Things are more likely to be promoted than diminiſhed, eſpecially in the Summer. If then it would contribute to the Health of the Inhabitants to have dry Houſes and Streets, ſhould not Drains be ſunk under both, and all low Places be filled up, to prevent the Lodgment of ſtanding Water? If the Salubrity of the Air can be ſo vitiated by the putrid Effluvia of rotten Carcaſſes, or of any other kind of animal or other Filth, that it becomes a ſort of Poiſon to us, ought not ſuch Nuſances to be removed to a greater Diſtance, or buried deep? But let it even be ſuppoſed, altho' it can by no Means be granted, that theſe Things are perfectly inactive, and not in the leaſt detrimental to Health, it muſt ſurely be allowed not conſiſtent with common Decency, to ſee in our Streets and Meats, ſuch Numbers of dead Dogs and other Animals, bloated and ready to burſt with Corruption, the larger Carcaſſes of Horſes and Cows, being only dragged from among the Houſes, and left to rot at the Skirts of the Town, and every bye Corner and vacant Lot becomes a Receptacle for all Manner of Filth, ſome of which is of the moſt putreſcent kind. This is the more aſtoniſhing, as no Place is more favourably ſituated than this is for the Reception of ſuch Things by its Proximity to two great Rivers, into which however, it might not be ſo well to throw the Bodies of dead Animals, as many of them would be left on the Banks when the Tide recedes, altho' even this would be greatly preferable to their lying at our very Doors. To remedy ſo dangerous an Indecency, it ſeems neceſſary, that an active Scavenger ſhould be appointed, whoſe whole Employment it ought to be, to go into every Street with his Cart, to take up what may be found amiſs and diſpoſe of it at the loweſt publick Charge. In this Manner he ſhould be obliged to ſcour the whole Town, twice in a Week, eſpecially in the Summer; and as ſuch a Salary muſt be annexed to an Office of this Nature, ſuch a Fine or Penalty ſhould be impoſed, as may deter him from incurring it by neglecting ſo neceſſary a Duty.

Something of this kind ſeems highly neceſſary, for it is probable, that the Town is more ſickly than the Country in the Summer, from this very Cauſe; and certain it is, that both the Sight and Smell of ſuch Things, are very offenſive to Strangers, who for the moſt part are apt to form a general Idea of the Politeneſs or Rufticity of the Inhabitants of every Place, by the Care they take to prevent public Nuſances. As for my own Part, who am ſometimes obliged to come to Town, the Air of it in the warm Weather is ſo particularly diſguſtful to me, that my Appetite immediately fails, and for Fear of worſe Conſequences, I finiſh my Buſineſs with all poſſible Diſpatch, and quit the Place to thoſe who, from Cuſtom, are leſs affected by ſuch Things.

A Z.

Our Correſpondent adds a good deal of the pernicious Conſequences (both to Man and Beaſt) of keeping the Indico Weed above Ground after it has been ſteeped, by Reaſon of the intolerable Stench it occaſions, and the prodigious Swarms of Flies it introduces: But, as 'tis ſaid, that every Indico Planter will be obliged, under a ſevere Penalty, to burn or bury the Weed after having drawn the Tincture therefrom, we think it at preſent unneceſſary to publiſh that Part of his Letter.

LONDON, December 4.

THE king has been pleaſed to appoint the right hon. William Pitt, Eſq; to be one of his majeſty's principal ſecretaries of ſtate, in the room of the hon. Henry Fox, Eſq.

We hear that a truly honourable commoner hath declared, in the moſt public and ſolemn manner, That he is reſolved to purſue ſuch meaſures only, as he may juſtly expect the houſe he ſits in chearfully to concur with, upon the unbiaſſed principles of regard to the true glory and real intereſt of this country; and that he deſires to hold his high place no longer than he maintains that public ſpirited conduct. From ſuch noble profeſſions, ſupported by a well eſtabliſhed character, what pleaſing hopes may not Britons now form to themſelves?

Admiral Byng has requeſted an enlargement, but could not obtain it.

Eight ſhips of the line will, we hear, ſhortly ſail for the American ſeas.

An advice veſſel has been diſpatched to Jamaica, with ſome packets for the commanding officer there; and we hear that 4 men of war of the line, beſides frigates, will ſoon ſail for that iſland.

Dreſden, Nov. 28. The Pruſſians, in order to keep off the enemy's irregular troops from making incurſions into Saxony, have made ditches to ſe[cure] broad broad and 5 ells deep; and by laying trees a-croſs, they have made a ſort of barricado. They are alſo repairing the fortifications of this city, and forming a conſiderable magazine; and all proviſions and forages delivered by the country people for the uſe of the ſaid magazine, is paid for in ready money.

Berlin, Nov. 23. The king, whoſe army in Saxony is actually compoſed of 62 battalions and 96 ſquadrons, has taken the moſt juſt and prudent meaſures to ſecure this country from all ſurprizes during the winter. His majeſty's troops in Saxony are quartered in ſuch a manner that the whole army may be aſſembled in 3 days, if there ſhould be any occaſion for it.

Paris, Nov. 26. There is much talk of an embarkation of troops which is ſoon to be made at L'Orient: The convoy, it is ſaid, will ſail under the eſcorte at Breſt and Rochefort; that M. de Lally is to conduct the expedition; and that the chevalier de Soupire, who is juſt made a field marſhal, will ſerve under him.

Florence, Nov 20. We have received advice from Corſica, that on the 2d inſtant 4000 French troops landed on that iſland, and immediately took poſſeſſion of the harbours and fortreſſes of Ajaccio, Calvi, and San Fiorenzo; on notice of which the malecontents had forbid, under ſevere penalties, their people to furniſh the French with any ſort of proviſions.

London, Dec 7. A train of artillery is getting ready for embarkation.

We hear, that orders have been given for 7 regiments, with tents and accoutrements, to be in readineſs for embarkation.

We hear from Ireland, that a regiment of foot, conſiſting of 1200 men, will be immediately raiſed in that kingdom.

Toulon, Nov 19. The ſhips that are laid up are repairing one after another, and as their crews are employed for this purpoſe, they will very ſoon be fit for ſervice again. At the ſame time we are building with all imaginable expedition, and daily receive timber from all parts. We have upon the ſtocks here 2 ſhips of 74 guns, 2 of 64, and 2 frigates, and ſhall ſoon put on a ſhip of 116 guns, and another of 100.

London, Dec 9. We are informed, that capt. Cuningham the engineer, and a volunteer in fort St. Philip during the ſiege, will, in conſideration of his great ſervices, be appointed lieutenant governor of Gibraltar in the room of col. Dunbar.

We hear ſeveral more men of war will be put into commiſſion this week.

Whitehall, Dec. 11. The king has been pleaſed to order letters patent to be paſſed under the great ſeal of the kingdom of Ireland, containing a grant of the dignity of a baron of the ſaid kingdom unto Sir William Blakeney, knight of the bath, lieutenant-general of his majeſty's forces, and his heirs male, by the name, ſtyle and title of baron Blakeney, of caſtle Blakeney in the county of Galway.

It is ſaid that an expedition of great conſequence is to be executed, and that the right hon. the lord Blakeney ſolicits to have the command of it, and that he may be indulged in chooſing his regiments that are to go.

There is advice from Breſt, that on the 23d of November in the afternoon, the St. Michael, of 60 guns, capt. Caumont, and the Amethiſte, of 30 guns, commanded by lieut. Herly, ſailed from that port with a ſtrong gale of wind, but very favourable to get clear of the Engliſh men of war, if any lay in their way: And the next morning ſailed, with the ſame wind, the Intrepid, of 74 guns, commanded by M. de Kerſaint, the Opiniatre, capt. Moeſſen, of 64; the Licorne, capt. Dugue Lambert, of 30, and the Caplypſo of 16 guns, commanded by M. de Cours, enſign in the navy. They dont tell us the deſtination of thoſe ſhips.

London, Dec. 14. On the 9th inſtant was brought into Plymouth, by the Torbay, capt. Campbell, the Royal Chariot, from Rochefort for Canada, a frigate of 36 guns and 144 men, laden with all ſorts of ſtores.

Paris, Dec 3. 'Tis ſaid, that the ſquadron of ſix ſhips which ſailed a few days ago from Breſt, is gone to America.

London, Dec. 16. Admiral Boſcawen is promoted to the rank of vice admiral of the white; and admiral Weſt to the rank of vice admiral of the blue.

We hear that 54 000 men will be employed in the ſea ſervice for the year 1757.

St James's, Dec. 15. His majeſty in council was this day pleaſed to declare his grace John duke of Bedford lieutenant general and general governor of his majeſty's kingdom of Ireland.

London, Dec. 18. Friday the 11th of February is appointed to be obſerved as a GENERAL FAST throughout Great Britain and Ireland.

We hear the brave governor of St. Philip's has declared, that if our fighting admiral had only cruized round the iſland of Minorca and cut off the enemy's proviſions and warlike ſtores, they muſt not only have raiſed the ſiege, but have abandoned the iſland, or taken the other alternative, to have ſtarved.

Six men of war are ordered to be ready to ſail for the Eaſt Indies on the ſhorteſt notice.

London, Dec. 21. It is ſaid that admiral Knowles's ſquadron is returned to its old ſtation, not being able to get ſight of the French ſhips lately ſailed from Breſt.

We hear that a fleet of 20 ſail, conſiſting of armed Indiamen, tranſports, &c. ſailed ſome days ago from port l'Orient; and that ſince the account of the men of war and frigates that ſailed out of Breſt from the middle to the end of November, 6 ſhips have been ſeen ſtanding in for that harbour, which ſome people ſuppoſe to be M. Perrier de Salvert's ſquadron from the Weſt Indies.

According to letters from Rochefort, there are 20 new forges erected there for caſting cannon, after the excellent method of M. Maritz. They have already ſent to Breſt 101 pieces bored for a ball of 36 pounds, 122 of 24, 11 of 18, 68 of 12, 134 of 8, 23 of 6, and 30 of 4 pounds. They are to ſend 291 pieces more, of different bores, to the ſame port; and to keep 497 at Rochefort.

CHARLES-TOWN, March 10.

A Gentleman, who lives at the Yuatin, writes to a Friend of his here, of the 19th ult. "That 13 Catawba Indians, had juſt paſſed by there, from Fort Cumberland, with 4 French Scalps, which they got (with ſome others they had delivered to the Governor of Virginia) in ſeveral Skirmiſhes near Fort du Queſne, and left only two of their Men: That 17 compleat Catawba Warriors paſſed by his Houſe the Day before, going to War againſt the French: And that they inform'd him, King Hagler was to follow them in a few Days with 100 more."
